The horse began to kick, and getting one of his hind legs over the swing-tree of the buggy to which he was hitched, he stumbled and fell, wrenching one wheel of the buggy and damaging the dash-board. Neither Mr. Miller nor the horse was injured.

THE RAGING RINOS.

Political Prognostications Prior to the Primaries.

The strife of the Republican politicians heretofore continues to grow more and more intense as the day of the primary elections to settle their differences draws nigh. The countrymen are running to town for advice. The town workers are going to the country with instructions and are putting the stuff where it will do the most good.

When Johnny Grau came down street yesterday with a pair of horses and a double-seated carriage, a dozen pairs of eyes followed him to see what was up. He was only going to the country to take some stranger friends a ride.

The best workers are working. The Griest men are boasting loudly. They say his stock, which could have been bought a week ago at 40, has gone up to 50, 60, 80 and is nearing par.

The anti-Smithean people claim that nearly all the politicians are against his re-election, and that many such "solid" citizens as Henry Baumgardner and Col. W. L. Peiper are making common cause against him. But Ringers and Hog Ringers show a willing alacrity to strike hands over his political grave. They say that there is no chance for anybody else while he maintains his present supremacy, that he will make no combinations for the advantage of anybody else, and that he will not "bleed" for the boys. Even Hiesland and Senenig who have had no confidence in the outlook for Griest, think the sky is getting brighter—especially since Publisher Warfel has showed some softness for the Sadsbury statesman, the self-made blacksmith-editor.

Smith's sanguine friends, on the other hand, scout the idea of Griest's chances for election. They say that the present violent opposition of the politicians is the same old story, and that while it is somewhat strengthened by a little personal antagonism and business pique, there are politicians supporting Smith who were against him two years ago—Fred Smith and Capt. John R. Bricker, for instance. They say that at the proper time Smith's friends "will be there," the farmers will be "out," and Smith will have as emphatic a majority over Griest as in 1878.

For District Attorney. Elderly friends claim that the contest between Johnson and Davis will be so close and will so evenly divide the Hog Ring that "it makes Adam sure." Davis says: "Johnson is beaten clean out of sight" and may come in behind Brubaker and Weaver. Johnson is working tooth and nail, but he will be slaughtered in the house of his friends, and he now seems to be out of all combinations and is the third favorite in the race. Weaver says he has the "people" and that their revolution will sweep him in. Few politicians agree with this prediction, but everybody concedes that he has a positive strength which greatly complicates the situation. Brubaker adds to his personal strength the support of some politicians which gives his friends hope and a determination to stick to him to the last.

For Legislature. There is no change in the legislative outlook. Northward it points to John B. Eschleman, D. D. Courtney and P. M. Elderly. In the South, Peoples leads, with Brosius a good second.

On the balance of the ticket it is a scrub race.

The Grand Lodge in Reading. Upon the reassembling of the grand lodge yesterday morning six hundred and fifty-three representatives answered to roll call. To test the sense of the grand lodge in relation to three of the most important features of the new amendments to the constitution and by-laws, before taking the same up for action, resolutions were offered and passed confirming the present system of representation of lodges in the grand lodge, the levying of a per capita tax upon the subordinate lodges to defray the necessary expenses of the parent body, and the paying of mileage to the representatives attending the sessions of the grand lodge as at present.

After this action the body proceeded to the consideration of the proposed revision of the constitution and by-laws of the grand lodge of Pennsylvania and of the constitution of subordinate lodges. This occupied the entire morning and afternoon sessions, the changes made being of no matter of importance, except to fix the mileage of representatives after this session at three cents per mile and making the per capita in the minimum at ten cents, and the maximum at twelve cents.

In the evening the unwritten work of order was exemplified to the members of the the grand lodge under the supervision and instruction of the grand lodge officers.

Presentation to Lancaster's New School Superintendent.

The Bible class of St. James's Lutheran church, Reading, called last evening at the residence of City Superintendent Buehrle, No. 516 Chestnut street, that city, preparatory to his removal to Lancaster. After pleasant conversation and the serving of refreshments, Mr. Harry Creelish stepped forward and in the name of the class presented Superintendent Buehrle with an elegant silver ice water service inscribed as follows: "R. K. Buehrle, by Rev. James Lutheran Bible class, Reading, May 19th, 1880."

Sales of Fancy Stock. According to the Country Gentleman, Mr. Colin Cameron, agent of the Elizabeth stock farms, Brickerville, has sold Percheron mare Nannie 829, winner of a medal and diploma at the Centennial exhibition, together with stallion Perfection 633, to Dr. H. M. Howe, Bristol, R. I.; also stallion Bay King to Wm. Nicol, Islip, Long Island. Mr. Cameron writes: "I have lately sold Jersey bull Jim Fisk 3,314 to Captain Franklin, of Lancaster, and heifer Willow Fisk to Chas. Huston, Coatesville, both strong in the now noted Alpha blood, and within the past week have sent to Richard Peters, Jr., Calhoun, Ga., a car load of very fine heifers."

Jumped too Soon. John Bohl, of Mount Joy, while returning home from Lancaster, on White-Monday evening, jumped off the Cincinnati express, while yet in motion, causing him to fall and break his collar bone.

COURT OF COMMON PLEAS.

Before Judge Livingston. John W. Newcomet vs. Stephen Shaeffer. This is an action brought by the plaintiff to recover a balance of $4,055.86, which he alleges to be due him from the firm of John A. Britton & Co., of which firm Shaeffer is alleged by the plaintiff to have been a member, for work done. In the year 1875, as it is alleged by the plaintiff, the firm had a contract to grade a portion of the Hanover Junction and Susquehanna railroad. In doing this work they gave a portion of it to the plaintiff, as a sub-contractor, and he claims that he has not been paid his claim in full. Suit was originally brought against the firm, but John Britton admitted the partnership and judgement was entered against him for want of appearance. The present defendant, Stephen Shaeffer, denies that he was or is a partner of Britton's and that question is now being tried.

Before Judge Patterson. This morning the case of Henry C. Eichholtz and Ann Catharine Eichholtz, his wife, vs. Hosina McCullon, action in trespass, was attached. The defendant resides on the corner of Vine and Lime streets, this city, and the plaintiffs are next-door neighbors, on the north side. At the end of the yards of the properties of the parties to this suit, on the west side, is a fourteen feet wide alley, which runs in from Vine street. This alley the plaintiffs claim the right to use, together with the defendant and the parties residing on the third property from Vine street. In the year 1878 the defendant obstructed this alley by putting a fence across it at the end of her property and this action is brought to establish the right of way.

After the jury was sworn they visited the premises with the counsel, and upon their return the case was opened. The plaintiff produced deeds, from different persons for the Eichholtz property since 1830, by which they claim a right to use this alley in common with the defendant and their neighbor on the north.

Henry C. Eichholtz was called, and he testified that he lived on the Eichholtz property since 1860, and lived in the third house from the corner from 1842 to 1856. While living in the Eichholtz property they always used this alley, and continued to do so until 1878, when the defendant constructed a six foot fence across the alley at the end of her property. This fence was torn down by the plaintiff when it was erected by the defendant, and was again torn down. After it had been erected for the third time the plaintiff again tore it down and this suit was brought. On trial.

THE DOCTORS.

Medicine Men in the Mountain City. In the convention of the state medical society in Altoona yesterday, Dr. John L. Atlee, of this city, made a hard fight for the passage of a motion that the graduates of colleges of pharmacy be not included as laymen, as prescribed in the code of ethics. He called for a recognition of the efforts of pharmacists generally throughout the state, who are making a praiseworthy effort to raise themselves from the low plane to which through various causes they have been consigned by medical men generally. He had frequently been necessitated to call in the aid of intelligent, educated pharmacists in surgical and other operations when physicians resided at such a distance that their services could not be procured in proper time.

A delegate here declared that if he were not permitted by the code to call in at times the services of the miners or other workmen he felt it would be only proper for him to leave the society. I live, said he, in a place where, for miles around, there is not a physician but myself, and very frequently I have asked miners' assistance in giving anesthetics, &c.

Dr. Atlee urged that the druggists have to compound nearly all the physicians' prescriptions, and that some consideration should be shown them. Dr. Woodbury—Do you want to make them doctors by brevet? Dr. Atlee—No sir.

Dr. Woodbury—Well, that's just what you are driving at. A delegate from Dauphin county asserted that many of the druggists are bold enough to prescribe for patients in the presence of physicians, and he instanced a number of such cases within his own experience. The motion was tabled.

In the afternoon, Dr. Carpenter, of Pottsville, read a paper in the obstetric art; Dr. Shoemaker, of Philadelphia, another, on new remedies for skin diseases; Dr. Pancoast spoke on diseased joints; and in the evening Dr. Nebinger delivered the president's annual address, declaring for a higher standard of medical education.

Large Funerals.

The funeral of Hugh Corcoran took place from his residence, No. 130 South Water street, this morning, and was very largely attended. The funeral rites took place in St. Mary's church where high requiem mass was celebrated. The remains were then conveyed, accompanied by a long line of coaches occupied by sorrowing friends, to St. Mary's cemetery where the interment took place.

The funeral of Mrs. Pennington Moore, Colerain township, took place yesterday forenoon, the interment being made in the burying ground attached to Colerain Baptist church, of which deceased was a member. The funeral was one of the largest that has taken place in that neighborhood. The religious services were conducted by Rev. Sharp, pastor of the Baptist church, assisted by Rev. Stewart of the Presbyterian church. Mrs. Moore was about 38 years of age, and was for a long time a sufferer from consumption. She leaves a young family and hosts of friends to mourn her loss.

Fatal Burning Across the River. A two-year-old and only son of John M. and S. Elizabeth Thompson, residing on the farm of Rev. Adams, deceased, in Chancetown township, York county, met with a terrible accident which proved fatal in a few hours after its occurrence. The mother was absent from the house, having gone to the barn, and the child was playing with the fire, when his clothing caught and was soon all ablaze. Mrs. Thompson's attention was first attracted to the condition of her little son by the screams of her daughter, who is several years older than her brother. She quickly ran to the relief of the burning child, and by drenching him with water, succeeded in extinguishing the flames, but too late to save his life.

FUNERAL BENEFITS. Lancaster Mutual Beneficial Association. A society with the above name was organized last evening in the hall, second story of Inquirer building, its object being to provide a fund for the payment of the funeral expenses of its members, the number of whom is limited to three hundred, each of whom is required, upon the death of a member to contribute the sum of $1.10—$1 of which goes to the family of deceased and the balance to the payment of society expenses. Seventy-five members have already joined the society, and the prospect is that the full complement of members will soon be obtained. The following officers were elected last evening: President, Dr. H. B. Parry; Vice President, J. W. Rudy; Secretary, William H. Powell; Treasurer, E. E. Snyder; Trustees, Isaac M. Chillas, John B. Millicock and Jacob E. Long.

Inert by a Horse. Yesterday afternoon as Daniel Hartman (John's son) was in the act of applying an embrocation to the sore withers of a horse in rear of the Pennsylvania railroad depot, the animal became restive and in some way struck Mr. Hartman on the head, producing concussion of the brain and rendering him unconscious for several hours. He is still confined to the house, but under the care of Dr. Boyd is getting along very well.

He Had to Come. W. H. Weise, of Stratington, Lehigh county, was regarded as an important witness in the case of Newcomet vs. Shaeffer, now on trial before the Lancaster common pleas. As Mr. Weise did not put in an appearance, process was issued, and the sheriff went after him, landing him safely in court yesterday morning.

Supposed Stolen Horse Caught. On Tuesday night a gray horse, which is supposed to have been stolen and then abandoned by the thieves, was caught at Intercourse by Jacob Warfel. The owner of the animal which is spavined in the left hind foot, had not been found yet last evening.

Wine for Females and Invalids. It is well known that there are cases when the most strict advocates of temperance are obliged to use some sort of wine, especially those who are old and infirm. Many weakly females as well as invalids and debilitated persons in warm weather need a little strengthening wine. The great difficulty has been in procuring a rich wine that is reliable. There are many cases where wine would be used to great advantage in place of alcoholic drinks if only a genuine article could be had, and upon which physicians could rely as being strictly pure and beneficial. The Port wine of Alfred Speer, of Passau, New Jersey, has been analyzed by chemists in every part of the world, and has been found to be strictly pure and beneficial. This wine proved being used in hospitals and in families for medicinal purposes, also in cases of cholera, dysentery, and other ailments.

Water Is Free. That's so but in most patent medicines you pay for it at the rate of a dollar a pint. Kidney-water is a dry compound, and one package is enough to make six quarts of medicine without addition of any poisonous liquors. It is nature's remedy for Kidney Diseases, Liver complaint and Piles, for it is both diuretic and cathartic, tonic and healing. Buy it. my17-1wdw
